"Whoso putteth his trust in the Lord shall be safe." Prov. 29:25

Rev. and Mrs. Moore and daughters were Saturday night supper guest of Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Gillaspie.

Mrs. Elsie Krantz and Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Wheeler were supper guest of Mrs. Hazel Gillaspie Saturday night. A delicious meal was enjoyed. She had a lovely birthday cake with candles on it for Mr. Wheeler's birthday.

Mrs. Annie Horsley is improving slowly at the Lynchburg General Hospital.

So glad to have Mrs. Minnie Burnett at church Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Jones, Kathy, Richard and Irby visited Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Wheeler Sunday.

Sunday night Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Wheeler visited Mr. and Mrs. Bob Worley.

Mrs. Mundy Moore is in the hospital. Hope she will improve fast and be able to come home soon.

Mrs. I. B. Wheeler and Mrs. Elsie Caldwell have been notified of the illness of their sister, Mrs. Sep Spencer. She is in a hospital in Richmond. She is expected to be hospitalized for two more weeks.

Well a lot of people will be eating venison soon as so many deer were killed in this section on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Bondurant had as their dinner guest last Sunday Mrs. Ruby Oakes of Rustburg, Mr. and Mrs. Romie McNaulty and children, of Chester, Va.

Mrs. Hazel Gillaspie was dinner guest Friday of Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Wheeler.

Art Exhibit Opens Sunday

Art Exhibit opens Sunday at the Lynchburg Art Club, 1011 Rivermont Avenue.

Paintings by Mrs. P. Buckley Moss, well-known Virginia artist, will be on display from January 12th through January 26th. The gallery is open to the public from 3 to 5 p.m. daily except Monday.

The artist is particularly famous for her paintings of Amish people depicting them and their surroundings in a very unique and charming way.

Mrs. Moss has exhibited widely in this country and in France and England. She has won many awards in both water colors and oils.

Her works are included in the private collections of Linda Johnson Robb, television personality Fran Allison and Metropolitan Opera star Gerald Souzay.

Red House Bull Sale Scheduled February 1

BLACKSBURG - The first performance tested bull sale of the year is scheduled at the Red House Bull Evaluation Center at Red House on Saturday, Feb. 1, at 12:30 p.m. It is one of three Virginia Beef Cattle Improvement Association sponsored sales that will be held in Virginia in the next 60 days, said A. L. Eller, Jr., assistant professor of animal science at Virginia Tech.

The second sale will be the junior bull sale at Red House on Saturday, March 1. The third sale will be the 17th Annual Performance Tested Bull Sale at the Culpeper test station at Culpeper Agricultural Enterprises in Culpeper, on Friday, March 7.

The sale of Feb. 1 will see the top end of 76 bulls composed of 37 Angus, 29 Polled Herefords, 6 Hereford and 4 Charolais sold at auction at the test station, which is four miles south of Appomattox. The top 70 per cent of these 76 senior age bulls will sell on Feb. 1, said Eller.

This group of bulls represent some of the very top bull calves produced in the fall calf crop of 1973 in Virginia BCIA breeders' herds, according to the Extension specialist. They were consigned to Red House and delivered on Aug. 13. They began the 140-day feedlot gain test on Aug. 27 and were weighed, scored and measured off test on Jan. 14.

For the 140-day test, these bulls were fed a high silage ration supplemented with corn and soybean meal: Gains on this group of bulls have been excellent, averaging 3.18 pounds per day through 112 days of the 140-day test. This group appears to be the best performing group of bulls ever tested in the Virginia BCIA test groups in the past 17 years, in Eller's opinion.

The bulls will have complete performance data on which to base selection. They will have adjusted weaning weight, average daily gain on 140-day test, adjusted 365 day yearling weight, along with grade, frame score, muscle score, height and fat thickness. "In other words, these bulls have the most complete data possible on them for purebred and commercial breeders to use as selection criteria," said Eller.

Catalogs and performance information are available from the sale manager: The Virginia Angus Association, 909 Lanidonia Circle, Charlottesville, Va., or from the Virginia BCIA, VPI & SU, Blacksburg, Va. or from James Bennett, Manager, Red House Bull Evaluation Center, Red House, Va. Also, Extension agents throughout Virginia can furnish details regarding the performance of the bulls in the test.

1975 Heart Fund Chairman Named

Thomas L. Matthews will serve as chairman of the 1975 Heart Fund Campaign in Appomattox County, it was announced Monday by Dr. Richard Wade, president of the Piedmont Heart Association.

Matthews, a building contractor, will coordinate the efforts of community volunteers who will visit all residential areas during February, designated as American Heart Month. Volunteers will distribute educational materials and collect funds to support research, educational and community programs sponsored by the Piedmont Heart Association.

The Heart Fund Chairman pointed out that heart disease, the leading cause of death in the nation, kills more Americans than all other causes combined. He urged area residents to support the Heart Fund drive and to give generously when a Heart volunteer visits their homes.

Annual Red Cross Meeting January 20

The Appomattox County Chapter of the American Red Cross will hold its annual business meeting on Mon., Jan. 20, at 7:30 p.m. in the Board Room of Farmers National Bank Branch in the Triangle Plaza Shopping Center. The purpose of this meeting is to re-organize the chapter with the election of officers and an Executive Board. Important matters concerning the Red Cross Blood Program and the Annual Fund Drive will also be acted upon. All Red Cross members and all who are interested in Red Cross Volunteer Work are urged to attend this meeting so that we may keep an active Red Cross Chapter in Appomattox County.

Driver Demerit System Instituted In Virginia

RICHMOND - A new Driver Improvement Program, developed by the Division of Motor Vehicles (DMV) to provide better assessment, warnings and help for Virginia drivers, began New Year's morning.

The program is based on a system of points given drivers for a variety of moving traffic violations.

According to DMV Commissioner Vern L. Hil, "Basic to the new Virginia system is a desire to take a closer look at each driver's situation, to pin-point problems and try to correct them."

Until now, speeding and reckless driving violations were the major causes for license suspension or revocation in Virginia. Under the new law, which was passed by the 1974 General Assembly, demerit points are assigned for a variety of moving violations.

If a driver acquires too many points within prescribed time limits, the DMV begins a series of remedial actions, including warning letters, interviews and Driver Improvement Clinics. The $20 cost of the clinic is paid by the driver.

Cole Re-elected Board Chairman

The Appomattox County Board of Supervisors, meeting in regular session on Friday morning, re-elected John C. Cole, a dairyman, as Chairman of the Board for a second consecutive term of office. Cole, representing the Southside District of the county, has been a board member since January of 1964.

Hunter Tolley, businessman and farmer, was named Vice-Chairman for a second term. Tolley, representing Clover Hill District, has been a board member since January of 1968. Otha W. Martin, Jr., a salesman for Barker-Jennings Hardware Company, the third member of the board, has represented Stonewall District since taking office in January of 1956.

Board members set the regular meeting date on the second Friday of each month at 9:00 a.m. in the board room at the Clerk's Office.

In business before the board, a motion was passed not to establish a Central Absentee Voter Election District in Appomattox County.

Lloyd G. Walton, Division Superintendent of Appomattox County Schools, appearing before the board stated that a breakdown of expenditures of the school system showed that the operation was being kept within the budget. He called the board's attention to an article appearing in the magazine "The Virginia Record," titled "J. E. Jamerson and Sons Present Appomattox County High School."

A proposed county zoning ordinance and map of Appomattox County were presented to board members by Phil Wheeler of the Central Virginia Planning District Commission for consideration. The proposed ordinance divides the county into agricultural, residential, business, industrial and historical areas. The board delayed action on this matter.

In other business before the board, Bill Slagle, Appomattox Town Manager and Administrator for the Appomattox County Sanitary Landfill, reported the general rating of the landfill site in Appomattox County is good.

T. E. Pittman, Resident Engineer, Virginia Department of Highways and Transportation, appearing before the board stated that he could forsee no cutback in proposed construction at this time.

The board set the second Friday in March as the date for the annual Public Road Hearing. A notice to this effect will be duly published at the proper time.

Mother's March Set January 26

Members of the Appomattox Junior Woman's Club will be asking residents of Appomattox County to give generously to the March of Dimes when they hold their annual fund drive this year on Sunday, January 26.

When a Marching Mother knocks on your door, your contribution will help in the research prevention and treatment of the more than 250,000 babies born each year in the U.S. with some form of birth defect.

Although this is a project of the Junior Woman's Club, anyone outside the organization who would like to help collect may get information packets by contacting Mary Catherine Whitehead at 3252-8898 by January 21.

Fertilizer Needs Discussed

O. H. Tolley, left, Sonny Tolley, Stewart Hackman and Jim Smith discuss fertilizer needs at annual farmers meeting held by Tolley's Liquid Fertilizer Co. at Pamplin. Hackman is sales representative for Ciba-Geigy Co. while the Tolleys are co-owners of the fertilizer company. Smith is County Agent. Farmers discussed agricultural requirements for coming year.

School Board Hears Educational Reports

Members of the Appomattox County School Board, meeting Friday afternoon in the Board Room at the School Board Office, heard reports from Mrs. Jean Hesson, General Supervisor, and from Richard B. Carter, Vocational Education Director, regarding Special Education and Vocational Education in the county schools.

Mrs. Hesson presented an updated five-year plan for Special Education to the board. In her report, Mrs. Hesson noted that our county has a low percentage of handicapped children. The needs of 121 students requiring special help are being met at a cost of $49,580, with $15,000 of that amount being provided by Federal funding. She further stated that during the next school session, these special students in grades 1 through 6 will be helped through a diagnostic program.

Carter told board members in his report that the Vocational

Special Services Advisory Council

Members of the Appomattox County Advisory Council for Special Education Services met Jan. 9. Members discussed the Five Year Plan for Special Education Services which includes services to students who are mentally retarded, or have speech, hearing or vision impairments, a learning disability, emotional disturbance, a physical handicap or multiple handicap.

Appomattox County High School Featured In State Publication

Appomattox County High School is the subject of a two page photo and text feature story in the "Virginia Record", an independent publication dedicated to telling the Virginia Story.

The article was written by Appomattox County Division Superintendent of Schools Lloyd Walton and the photographs were submitted by Shearer B. Robertson. The feature offers background data on the new facility, explains the academic and vocational objectives and presents details pertaining to enrollment, construction cost, architectual design and credits the various sub-contractors involved in the construction.

J. E. Jamerson & Sons of Appomattox was the general contractor for the facility while Garland M. Gay and Associates of Lynchburg was the architect.

Walton wrote, "The new facilities have enabled the school division to expand its program and reorganize its schools to keep pace with the needs of the community. Appomattox is changing. Industry is beginning to play an important role in the life of the community. The quality of the school system is also a factor which attracted many persons to this community. Of the many developments in the community and the school system than the opening of the new comprehensive Appomattox County High School."

Rob ertson's photographs include interior pictures of the media center and the cafeteria and exterior pictures of the vocational educational department and a front view of the new building.

National Park Service To Present Film Festival

A free weekly film festival will begin on Monday, January 20th, in the cafeteria of the new Appomattox County High School. Presented by Appomattox Court House National Historical Park in cooperation with the Appomattox County School Board the film festival will run for a period of nine weeks with a series of films shown each Monday evening from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

Most of the films have been prepared by the National Park Services' motion picture unit located in Harpers Ferry, West Virginia for use in visitor centers around the country. A sampling of film titles to be shown over the nine week period include, Forces of Change, Mt. Rainier - Fire and Ice, The Salvage of the Gunboat Cairo, Indian Pottery of San Ildefonso, and Four Faces on a Mountain; Mt. Rushmore.

A complete schedule of the film festival and listings of films is available by mail from the park. Those interested in the entire series, or just one or two programs, should call Mrs. Frances Avery at 352-8987 for a free schedule. Moderator for the film series will be Gil Lusk.

Swine School Slated

The 1975 Area Swine School will be conducted January 20 from 9:30 a.m. until 3:00 p.m. at Buckingham County High School. The school provides an opportunity for swine producers to remain aware of the latest developments and management practices.

Topics to be included in the 1975 program include: Selection of gilts, raising more pigs per litter, and Swine Economics. Speakers will include Dr. C. R. Cooper and Mr. L. B. Allen, Extension Specialists in Animal Science at Virgina Tech; and Mr. Wayne Compton, Extension Agent, Albemarle County. Also included will be a panel discussion on Hog Production Systems with three producers making up the panel.

The program will be sponsored by Seay Milling and Machinery Company of Dillwyn, Buckingham Farm Supply of Dillwyn, Producers Cooperative, Inc. of Richmond, Farmville Livestock Market and the Virginia Tech Cooperative Extension Service. Lunch will be provided by the sponsors.

Persons interested in attending the meeting are asked to call the Appomattox Extension Office (352-8241) by Friday of this week. All swine producers are invited to attend.

Oakville Correspondent Named

Mrs. Kathleen Richardson has been named correspondent to the Times-Virginian from the Oakville vicinity. Mrs. Richardson is replacing Mrs. Clark Moore who previously served the Oakville area.

News contributers may contact Mrs. Richardson of 352-7755.
